

2023 SACNAS POWOW

Etiquette for Spectators

All drummers and dancers are invited to put on their traditional regalia and join in the SACNAS Pow Wow! Please be mindful of the etiquette tips for participating attendees below:

- You are welcome to sit in empty chairs, but please do not sit on benches or chairs that are covered with blankets. These are reserved for dancers.
- The dancers put many hours of hard work to make their clothing (regalia) and take great pride in the. Please do not touch a dancer's clothing unless you have permission from the individual. The feathers are not only fragile but are also considered sacred.
- Feel free to take photos and video from a distance! For close-up photography, please ask permission from that individual or group. Occasionally there are times throughout the Pow Wow where photos and video are not permitted. Be sure to listen to the Emcee when it is permissible to take photos and video.
- There will be many opportunities for the audience to participate in inter-tribal and social dances. The Emcee will announce those times throughout the Pow Wow. Please be respectful and considerate of these opportunities.
- No smoking, alcoholic beverages, or drugs are allowed at this event.
- Please pick up your own litter and throw it in the trash.

We hope you enjoy the SACNAS Pow Wow!
