

Mark Combs
CEO
Self-Insured Reporting

Mark Combs is the CEO of Self-Insured Reporting, a platform designed to automate and simplify managing of an employer's self-insured plans. The platform allows for all stakeholders (employers, brokers, TPAs, reinsurance carriers, and population health teams) to have a common language and common reporting for managing plans.

Mark began his career for 15 years as an employee benefits broker, obtaining 7 professional designations along the way. These included the RHU, REBC, CFP, and prestigious CFA designations.

After selling his benefits firm to Arthur J. Gallagher in 2011, Mark launched a benefits technology company: Sky Insurance Technologies. 'Sky' has launched several successful products, including ACAReportingService.com which is well known in the industry.